

Comments on the Peace of Berlin.

By Cable to the News.

LONDON, July 20.—The Paris and Vienna newspapers generally comment favorably upon Beaconsfield's statement in explanation of the treaty of Berlin in the House of Lords on Thursday. The Italian Government and conservative organs condemn the statement. The Italian radical newspapers do not notice the subject of English occupation of Cyprus, but exclusively devote their attention to Austria.

The Standard's assertion that the Italian ambassador at Vienna had been called to Rome on this subject is denied. The ambassador went to Paris on a short leave—his visit being unconnected with politics.

Russian unofficial press is more or less dissatisfied with the treaty. Because its conclusion Akosoff Panashvich agitator made such a violent speech at Moscow against the Russian concessions in Congress that he was warned that his repetition would be regarded as a personal attack on the Czar. A Times letter says: "The Slavophil enthusiasm is disappointed. The Liberals would have been willing that a state of war should continue because they hoped out of its results to get the basis of constitutional liberty. But an immense majority of the Russian people as well as mercantile community and wealthy as well as lower masses are heartily glad of the return of peace."

Causes of the Yellow Fever at New York.

By Cable to the News.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The report of the Board of Medical Officers of the navy, designated to investigate the causes of the appearance of yellow fever on the Vermont at New York, has been received at the Navy Department. The Board is of the opinion that it originated from the ballast of the bark Janiata Clara, which left Havana May 1st. This ballast, quarry clippings and sand, was deposited on the dock on either side of the Vermont, about 100 yards distant from her. It contained the germ of the disease which was aggravated into fever by the excessive heat.

By Cable to the News.

The Duty of the Hour.

By Cable to the News.

MOORE CARPENTARIAN. Though the political sky was never so clear, though our political opponents were never so weak, though our prospects for a successful campaign were never so flattering, and everything is lovely while the "goose hangs high." Yet we say, Democrats, work. We know you do not dream of defeat, nor do we. We are the victors. The more worthy the victors, the more disastrous the defeat, the more unrelenting the rally. Let us not repose too serenely upon our oars nor trust too much to clear sky or a sleeping wave; destructive storms have come from smaller clouds, disastrous shipwrecks from more placid waves.

The Day and the Duty.

By Cable to the News.

Be on the alert. Let every Democratic picket be at his post from now until the sun sets on the 1st of August, and all will be well. Don't stay away from the polls because you are certain that your ticket will be elected, but let your vote help to swell the majority. Remember that we have driven the enemy from every stronghold but one, and we should now prepare for a final charge, that may be routed horse, foot and dragons, and plant our flag in this last stronghold—that of the Supreme Court, and North Carolina will be redeemed, indeed.

Madison Tobacco.

By Cable to the News.

MADISON is again ahead. Mr. Lee Henderson has sold some tobacco in Lynchburg for prices ranging from 30 cents to $2.00 per pound. Maj. Robins, whom we are pleased to have received a call from, informs us that the prospect for this season could not be better. The crops are in splendid condition, and the prices of Madison and Buncombe tobacco range so high that it is running other tobaccos from the market. We have unquestionably the best tobacco section in the State. And glorious like Madison will stand in the front rank.

The Field.

By Cable to the News.

Richmonds continue to enter the field. J. R. Gash is a candidate for Sheriff of Deeds, Isaac Arledge for Sheriff, D. W. Hutchinson for Clerk Superior Court, and R. H. Blaylock for the Legislature. J. L. Hood, Esq., has withdrawn from the canvass, and it is said that Phillip Justice will also withdraw, leaving Mr. Blythe the only republican candidate in the district. Col. T. W. Taylor for the Senate. The friends of H. T. Farmer, Esq., insist upon bringing him out for the same position.

Buncombe Democracy.

By Cable to the News.

Buncombe democracy has never yet failed to maintain its adherence to principle and right, and we cannot believe it will do so in the pending struggle, notwithstanding the earnest, active, insidious efforts made by our common enemy and their adherents in our ranks.

A Straw.

By Cable to the News.

The Radical candidates for the Legislature in Wake county have declared for Augustus Merrimon for United Senator. The mere fact that Mr. Merrimon is a bolter, causes a wondrous kindly feeling for him in the Republican household; also among a few so-called Democrats.

Shipment of Grapes.

By Cable to the News.

Last Tuesday Mr. H. R. Horne, of the well-known and extensive Tokay vineyard near this place, made quite a large shipment North of early table grapes—Delawares, Concord, &c., in fine order, perfectly ripe and very fine and luscious. We congratulate "Tokay" on this fine showing.

The Hereafter.

By Cable to the News.

Two weeks from to-day the fate of all the candidates in the field will be decided. Aye, and the fate of Democratic principles will also be decided. Candidates who allow their individual interest to prevail to the damage of party success will hear of it hereafter.

The Ticket.

By Cable to the News.

Build more railroads, whose network over the State shall be owned by natives, and thus break down the outrageous freight monopolies of the many of the through and larger roads in the South, controlled or owned by Northern capital.

LETTER FROM EX-SENATOR LOVE.

His Action in Senatorial Campaigns in 1872—His Reply to Statement of the News—The Reason of His Opposition to Vance.

To the Raleigh News. I think in justice to myself, I ought to be allowed to refer through your columns to the following letter, which I find in your issue of June the 11th, 1878. You unwittingly mistake facts, as many members of the caucus of 1872 know and charge me with the crime of duplicity. I had done since determined to leave this whole matter with the people, never having expressed dissatisfaction, or even felt otherwise than content, with the course I took in the Senatorial contest of 1872. But after being quiet for five years, you refer to my action in that contest, and do me injustice. While I have found the News bold in its positions, I have found it frank and fair. I think therefore, you will hear me in self-defense.

You say, "On Tuesday morning," the day Judge Merrimon was elected to the United States Senate, "this supporter of Judge Merrimon, proposed the caucus of Vance in caucus," and during the discussion the chairman of the caucus, Senator Love, a friend and supporter of Judge Merrimon, left the chair, stood up on the floor, and in a speech understood to be in favor of the motion of Mr. Merrimon, he frequently for harmony and restoration.

Now this is ingeniously put. Why didn't you say I made a speech in favor of Gov. Vance's nomination? You say my speech was in favor of Mr. Bryson's nomination. I understood what had proposed the name of Gov. Vance. But you err again, and again, in this. Mr. Bryson did not, as I recollect, make any motion in caucus that night. He only asked the Senatorial Caucus to make the motion to which you refer. My speech, of which you speak kindly, if it was not for the charge of duplicity, followed the motion of Senator Cowles. But it was not in support of the caucus, but in support of Gov. Vance. "You," you say, "I have given you a brief statement of facts, of what I know to be facts, and with a good conscience, touching this whole matter. I again bid adieu to the contest of 1872."

Patrons and Purpose of Independents.

By Cable to the News.

Salisbury Watchman. It is impossible to decide at this time what verdict the people will render in regard to "Independents." It is quite certain that the election of a considerable number of "Independents" from different portions of the State will jeopardize Gov. Vance's prospects for the U. S. Senate, and to that extent disturb the harmony on which all have heretofore calculated with such much certainty for the permanent redemption of the State from Radical domination; for we cannot perceive how it is possible to re-enact the Legislative scene of 1872 without influencing an almost fatal blow on the integrity of the party. Senator Cowles made the motion to which you refer. My speech, of which you speak kindly, if it was not for the charge of duplicity, followed the motion of Senator Cowles. But it was not in support of the caucus, but in support of Gov. Vance. "You," you say, "I have given you a brief statement of facts, of what I know to be facts, and with a good conscience, touching this whole matter. I again bid adieu to the contest of 1872."

Granville Petties.

By Cable to the News.

OXFORD, July 19. The Radical candidates in Granville, we learn, are literally denouncing each other. Charges of fraud, corruption and general rascality are hurled at each other with unrelenting fury. A fight has been imminent several times, but as yet, no blood has been spilled. The Democrats do not canvass with the Radicals, indeed it is not necessary, as the latter are too busy denouncing each other to notice an adversary from any other quarter.

The People Pay the Bill.

By Cable to the News.

Colonel Rogers, the President's Private Secretary, has returned from a week's cruise on Chesapeake Bay in a Government vessel. The arrival of the steamer Tallapoosa with the Secretary of the Navy, and a choice pleasure party in safety at Brooklyn is also announced. It will fill the country with pleasure to know that these merry gentlemen are getting along so famously, spending the hard-earned money of the people with such liberality, putting greenbacks in circulation, and doing much to wear away the hot summer days in ease and comfort. This is civil service reform and these junketers are the apostles of the new faith.

The Colored Baptist.

By Cable to the News.

The colored Baptist of the South have held a Convention at Nashville, Tenn., and organized "The National Colored Baptist Missionary and Education Convention." To be held annually. Its objects are to establish a publishing house to assist in educating the freedmen; to establish a religious newspaper; and to gather and publish statistics of the churches.

A Day's Work.

By Cable to the News.

One of the speakers at the National Greenback meeting in West Philadelphia Saturday night, thought that five hours work a day was enough. This is an opinion that has always met with cordial approval; but we have never been quite equal to the hardihood of asking ten hours pay for five hours work. That is reserved for reformers—soft-handed and brass-mounted gent who do not work at all.

The Wheat Crop.

By Cable to the News.

The Cincinnati Commercial publishes crop reports obtained from a great number of places in Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky which show that more acres were sown than in any previous year, and that there is a better average product than ever before. The wheat harvest throughout the country is large. Poor people can count confidently upon cheap bread for a year to come.

CHAPEL HILL.

By Cable to the News.

The Teachers at School—Notes from Other States—Superintendent Scarborough's Lecture—Colonel Polk's Address.

CHAPEL HILL, July 19. We are exceedingly gratified at the notice which the educational institutions of other States have taken of our Normal School. It comprises the first acknowledgment of North Carolina's superiority in common-school education, which has greeted our ears for many years. The universal conviction of such a superiority is nothing but commendable, and should be cherished by our people far more than a political victory, for it augurs material glory and success, while the latter simply pleases our egotistic passions.

SUPERINTENDENT SCARBOROUGH.

By Cable to the News.

We were pleasantly surprised by a visit from our Superintendent of Public Instruction, Mr. Scarborough. He came unawares, as if to satisfy himself of our progress personally, but his presence in that respect was unnecessary, as nothing but constant work greeted his eyes.

At 12 o'clock he delivered a lecture in the Chapel before the whole school. It was a compendium of school statistics, and reports, reasons for our deficiency in common school education, practical suggestions, and advice recommending larger appropriations for education. From which we can learn Mr. Scarborough is a hard worker, and inclined to push forward every enterprise relative to advancing common school instruction.

COL. POLK'S LECTURE.

By Cable to the News.

At 8 o'clock a large audience, composed of students and villagers, assembled in the chapel to hear our Commissioner of Agriculture, Col. Polk, deliver a lecture. He is well known to every North Carolinian, as the guardian of our agricultural interest, the great herald of our indigenous products, the great experimenter, and, but not least, one of our best and truly imbued patriotic men in the State.

His subject was "What are the demands of our State upon us, and how should we meet them?"

Having received the invitation to address the school only two days before, he said he would not beg our pardon for thus presuming to come upon us, but was impelled by an irresistible desire to see the workings of our great National machinery. He then began his address.

He had come as the representative of the Agricultural Department, but in addition to this, speaking to an educational assembly, he proposed to recognize the great co-existing affinity between the two.

Prior to the war the conservative people made little or no advancement in agriculture as a science, on account of the great opposition exhibited by the commonality to any agricultural or domestic or educational innovations. The educational system too conformed to this peculiarity in our social organism. Unlike England where practical business talent is the thing, we of the South pursued a system which qualified us for no other use than in one department of human effort, namely, political life. Thus we were unprepared for war. And during that terrible ordeal of seven years we suffered and humiliation, what have we learned? Under oppression have we learned patience in adversity, have we learned perseverance? In poverty have we learned self-esteem—under misgovernment have we learned patience. In brief have we learned to prize our own and our country's honor as above all things earthly? If so the lesson has not been in vain. The student of history may look upon our grand resistance to anarchy, upon our valor without emotion; "But when the din of battle has hushed, and its smoke has cleared away a scene will be revealed to his wondering gaze that must arouse and enlist all his higher sympathies for a noble and generous nature. If this people can act thus as warriors, what glory becomes theirs in their nobler achievements as citizens in peace?"

A BRIGHTER OUTLOOK.

By Cable to the News.

But a better day is coming. Improvements in education, agriculture, politics and morals, many and effective, form prophetic visions of a brilliant future. Let us make the most of our situation. Many things are to be learned and to be unlearned. The rare old antebellum idea that broad acres constitute wealth, and that they must continue to supply the deficiencies of our agriculture, is still prevalent among our farmers—thousands of our young men are employed in professions and one horse trades. "Ah the noble hearts that have been blighted and the towering spirits that have been stripped of their plumage, and the incalculable damage to our country by this false dream of manual labor!"

SOME STATISTICS.

"We see by the census of 1870, that we have in farms improved, woodlands, and unimproved 19,535,410 acres, only 26 per cent. of which is producing anything. Of these, 76 per cent. are doing nothing, and to which may be added 12,000,000 acres of wild lands. Only 456 out of every thousand of our population over ten years of age are at work. Of those who work, 76 per cent. are engaged in farming. Of the wealth of the State, Agriculture controls $82,293,194, while other sources control $178,464,050. The Agriculture of the State commands only 32 per cent. of the money value of the wealth of the State, and only 26 per cent. of the land improved in farms, supports 77 per cent. of the total population. The question arises how is this burden to be sustained? The National Agricultural, Commercial and Manufacturing interests of the State."

How is it that the masses of our own people, and the people of other States know really so little of the attractions, advantages, capabilities, and resources of the State. This is all owing to the want of appropriations for issuing the proper statistics.

A FLEA FOR EDUCATION.

By Cable to the News.

"Mr. President, teachers and pupils of the Normal School, our old ship of State, freighted with the hopes, fortunes and liberties of a million souls, through a long night of adversity—driven and buffeted by mad waves which threatened to engulf her at last, emerges from the dark folds which have so long enveloped her, and through the glooming tinges of the early moon, her longing, anxious gaze

The Railroads must be disciplined by appropriate legislation. Discriminating and extortionate freight charges must be made impossible. The people have a constitutional right to this measure of relief, which is but simple justice. Railroads in this State pay large bonuses to close competing lines and out of competitive points, yet, after extraordinary repairs, new equipment and partial reconstruction, they realize eight and ten per cent. dividends. What farmer along the lines of any of our railroads makes eight per cent. after paying for repairs and improvements on his farm?

Hon. Josiah Turner.

The News fought this gentleman and connected with it are some who fought him when his power and influence was scarcely second to that of any man in the State. There was cause to fight him then, and those who came in conflict with him incurred some risk, for he has marred the fortunes of more than one combatant. But now, with power, popularity, and influence, all gone, to strike him is to strike a prostrate man—a fallen foe. The News begs to be excused from any part in such warfare.

Mr. Turner is an Independent candidate, it is true; he is defying and denouncing the Democratic party, and traducing its leaders and prominent men; but his independency, and effort at the disorganization and consequent destruction of the Democratic party is not without high example. He has labored in and been honored by the Democratic party since others high above him, and now claiming party reward, broke away from and rebelled in open defiance of Democratic organization. It is not yet three years since he stood in the Commons Hall, assisting to maintain the supremacy of the Democratic party throughout one of the most critical periods in the history of the party and the State, when one step in the direction of the enemy would have prostrated North Carolina at the feet of the Radical party, and doomed her forever and henceforth to the chains of Radicalism.

It is nearly six full years, now, since a prominent Democratic leader, followed by a handful of Democrats marched into the camp of the enemy, in open defiance of party usage and party discipline, and came back loaded with the highest honors that a party in a State can bestow. They have worn those honors thus acquired, flaunting their Radical given laurels in the faces of those who stood true to the Democracy through good and through evil report; in the hour of defeat as well as in the proudest moments of triumph and success. And now these claim that the highest honors of the Democratic party belong to them, and they must not be withheld, or they may again put on the crown which Radicalism always has in store for those who bring ruin, defeat and distress upon the Democratic party.

Mr. Turner is bad enough. He must be shunned and opposed by every Democrat. No denunciation could be too severe for him, who of all men, as the News long ago and fully showed, was the most inveterate foe that Independents ever had. But he is not the worst. He has never been able to defeat the will of the Democratic party, and he can do it no serious harm now; while there are others who have, and who threaten to again defeat the will of the party, and give it the final blow of destruction.

Therefore, let those who thirst for the blood of a dying gladiator, strike higher than poor broken Josiah Turner; and if they would season their warfare with a spice of danger, turn from the ruined home and desolated fireside in Orange, to that glittering, haughty and proud arena, the Senate of the United States, where stands arrayed in all his power a foe man worthy of his steel.

Vance's Violated Pledge.

The former and well known Senator from Jackson, writes an extended letter to the News for publication, and he asks the favor on the ground that he has been mis-represented in these columns.

The letter is in reference to the memorable Senatorial contest of 1872, and is offered as a justification for the opposition of Dr. Love and the Senators and Representatives who, with him, have been designated "Merrimon bolters." But the letter leaves him and them scarcely better than it found them.

It is now asserted that the opposition of Senator Love, and perhaps the others acting with him, arose from a violated pledge, given by Governor Vance, or a friend for him, to resign the Senatorship by Christmas 1870, if his disabilities should not be removed and he admitted to a seat in the United States Senate by that time. It is not now remembered that that issue was raised during the Senatorial contest of 1872, and if it had it would have been promptly met and disposed of, for with all due deference to Dr. Love, no such pledge was ever given or exacted, whatever his impressions or the impressions of others may now be.

The Senatorial elections always occurred near the first of December, and to Christmas would have given the Governor not more than twenty-five days to get a bill introduced, reported and acted upon in both Houses of Congress, for the relief of his disabilities. No reasonable man would have limited himself to so short a time on a measure against which there was much opposition and sure to be great delay in its consideration. It was the open declaration, and a pledge to the party and the public, that Governor Vance, failing of admission would resign in time for that Legislature to elect, he never contemplating holding his credentials to run the chances of a new Legislature that might be Republican. To Dr. Martin, member from Carteret, who introduced a House Resolution March 12, 1871, requesting Governor Vance to resign, and who corresponded with him, the Governor wrote March 15—"I promised my friends, who supported me in caucus, to resign whenever they wanted me to do so, whether on the first of January, fourth of March, or any other time."

These friends did not request or expect him to resign by Christmas or the fourth of March. When the matter was under consideration as late as the middle of March, they did not intimate a wish for him to resign. On the contrary, as is well remembered by those who thought he should resign, and were urging him to do so, it was the sense of a large majority of the Democrats that he should hold on until the next winter. "Senator Bayard, of Delaware, and others," never "wrote Governor Vance requesting him to resign and let another be elected in his place who could qualify." But Senator Pool did write State Senator Cowles, March 17, 1871, that the disabilities of Governor Vance would be removed at the next session, if not then, and he added—"If Congress remains in session two weeks he will be relieved at this session." It was always understood that the credentials of Senator Vance were at the disposal of the Democratic caucus, and that caucus did not request them. Had there been a violated pledge the caucus would have owed it to itself and the Democratic party to demand the credentials of one so unworthy to hold them under any circumstances.

In a letter to Governor Vance, dated Charlotte, January 17, 1873, Colonel Ham. C. Jones said:—"You desire me to state what pledges I made in your name to the caucus that nominated you in 1870. In reply, I can only say that these pledges were intended by me to be simply, that you should resign whenever the caucus that nominated you expressed an opinion that it was proper for you to do so. I did not intend to convey the idea to the caucus that you would resign if your first effort for admission was unsuccessful, nor if your second was, nor in fact did I refer to any time, but only assured the caucus that, in case you were elected, it would still retain control of the matter by retaining the power of calling for your resignation. This was all you authorized me to say, and all that I intended to say. I have no recollection of any letter from you being referred to in that caucus, but do remember that the assurances given by me were the result of a conversation had with you a few minutes before in the rotunda of the Capitol.

"In regard to your resignation, I do not know how long I held it; I think fully two weeks, probably longer. Your instructions to me were to present it promptly when your friends thought it necessary. It was generally known that I held it, and upon what instructions. I may add, that when asked by you what pledges I made for you, I answered you to the same effect that I have in this letter."

These facts are sufficient to dispose of the pretext of "a violated pledge" upon which Senator Love seeks to justify his action of party disobedience, and which he assigns as the ground of his opposition and hostility to Governor Vance.

The Struggle Over.

Daily News December 4th, 1872.

We do not propose to-day to comment on the conduct of those of our friends who refused to abide the caucus nomination of the party, but in justice to Gov. Vance, who left the city on Monday night, and whose letter of withdrawal appeared in our columns yesterday morning, and in justice to those who voted for him after his departure we feel it our duty to inform the public that his name was brought forward after his withdrawal by some of Judge Merrimon's friends who had persistently supported the Judge against the nominee of the party. We learn that in the caucus on Monday, Gov. Vance's friends refused to allow him to be voted for notwithstanding some of Judge Merrimon's friends who were in the caucus made speeches in favor of Gov. Vance's renomination, and stated that in as much as they could not get their first choice, Judge Merrimon, they were in favor of Vance. The friends of Vance would not then permit the use of his name, as they had no assurances that enough of Judge Merrimon's friends would come to Vance's support to secure his election.

Therefore the names of Merrimon and Vance were both withdrawn from the caucus on Monday, and several ballots were had in which numbers of gentlemen were voted for without any result. Gen. Seales received the largest number of votes cast, but he lacked a good deal of obtaining a majority. At the caucus held yesterday morning before the Legislature met, the proposition of some of Merrimon's friends, who had voted against Vance after his nomination was again renewed to the effect that they were willing to forego their opposition, and several of them made speeches in favor of Vance's nomination.

We are informed that several of Merrimon's friends at this caucus urged Vance's claims, and succeeded in having him re-nominated—there being sixty-six men in the meeting pledged to his support.

When the balloting commenced in the Legislature yesterday, some of those who had pledged themselves in caucus for Governor Vance voted for Judge Merrimon, securing his election with the aid of the Radical vote.

We make this statement because we have been assured that Gov. Vance's friends would not again have proposed his name; it was urged by those who had before opposed him, who assisted on his renomination. Enough of these gentlemen voluntarily offered to support Vance to secure his election.

It is but proper to say that a few of Judge Merrimon's friends remained out of caucus and others who were in the caucus made no pledge to support Vance.

BEAUTY:

OR THE

Secret of a Fair Face

AN ITEM OF INTEREST TO EVERY LADY WHO DESIRES TO BE MORE BEAUTIFUL.

Unfortunately not one woman in a hundred, subjected to the whims of an American climate possesses that basis and starting point of real beauty—a pure and clear complexion.

What nature has thus denied, art must be called upon to furnish.

It can be done; it is done daily. Prof. W. E. Hogan placed beauty within the reach of every unbleached daughter of Eve when he discovered that surprising article known in fashionable circles as the true secret of beauty, and called

MAGNOLIA BALSAM

The MAGNOLIA BALSAM is a sure device for creating a pure and blooming complexion. It conceals all natural blemishes in the most surprising and effective manner. It removes all roughness, eruptions, redness, blotches, freckles, and tan with magical power.

It drives away all evidences of fatigue and excitement.

It makes the plainest face beautiful.

It gives the complexion a dazzling purity and makes the neck, face, and arms appear graceful, refined, and plump.

It makes a matron of 35 or 40 look not more than 20 years old, and changes the rustic maiden into a cultivated girl.

The Magnolia Balsam removes all blemishes and conceals every drawback to beauty; and while it is as harmless as water, it is so effective in its effects that the closest observer cannot detect its use.

Ladies who want to make themselves attractive can make an absolute certainty of it by using HOGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALSAM, and we know of no other way. It is the cheapest preparation in the world, all things considered, and may be had at any drug store.
